

Close more business sales in less time

Whether Metro Ethernet or Small and Medium Businesses (SMB), business class services offer you tremendous revenue and growth potential. Let CCI help you respond promptly to potential customers, quickly determining if a business can be served by existing cable or offers the ROI to justify a plant extension.

Get answers in hours with desktop survey

Use our fast, low-cost desktop surveys to determine in a matter of hours if a business request is serviceable, buildable or outside acceptable construction costs.

- CCI uses your plant maps to locate the fiber or coax tie point, then overlays data on Google Earth or Bing.
- Our experts identify potential construction obstacles and the most cost-efficient routing.
- You get the information to support rough cost estimates and, in many cases, go/no-go decisions.

Solidify construction plans with site survey

Verify your initial construction survey with a detailed field audit. CCI's experienced field technicians visit each site, reducing turn times to speed your quote process.

- We map the entire route based on cost, maximizing businesses passed.
- You get details including permit costs and required drawings to solidify your estimate.

Support efficient construction with expert design

CCI designers average 10 years of experience in plant extensions for most major cable operators. We quickly create a design that can be constructed efficiently, ensuring accuracy and consistency with rigorous quality control.

- We use current design and drafting software, including GIS platforms such as SpatialNET, Bentley Comms and ESRI.
- Final designs are returned in your current mapping system.
- CCI can also update post construction as-builts.
- Final designs can be done over VPN in your live database for immediate inclusion in your plant records or returned in your current mapping system.

Turnkey solution saves you time and money

Rely on CCI to help you answer prospective customers quickly, for higher close rates.

Our process is designed to help you succeed.

- Track projects through your in-house database or our customer tracking database.
- Cut costs with efficient project management to reduce or eliminate repeat surveys.
- Speed turnaround with CCI's permitting services. Our mappers collect the data during the initial site survey; our documentation specialists create standard templates by permitting entity (county, DOT, etc.) to ensure quick approval; and if you choose, we can handle the submittal process.
