

Headend Services ensure a superior experience

Your video offering is only as good as your headend—and with CCI Systems, you can be sure the heart of your network is top-quality.

Enhance reliability with CCI design, integration and maintenance

Minimize maintenance problems and launch advanced services with ease, supported by CCI's complete design, integration and maintenance services. We bring you more than 50 years of experience in advanced video technologies.

Whether you're planning an all-new facility, re-racking and re-cabling existing systems, or adding services like high-speed Internet or an advanced channel package, we have the know-how to make your project—and your network—run smoothly.

Control costs with pre-engineering

Our engineers work with you up front to fine-tune project details and guide you toward the optimum design, taking into account your current equipment, goals, budget and other considerations. Whatever the project—a new combining network or complete headend—you can rely on our team to deliver the solution you need now while positioning you for what's next.

Maximize functionality with complete documentation

Know your system so you can get the most out of it. CCI provides complete, as-built documentation, including rack profiles, signal flow diagrams, cabling diagrams, wire label charts, channel lineups with satellite information, floor plans, satellite dish layout and more. CCI can also document your existing system, an essential step in planning upgrades.

Save time and money with installation and cabling

Take advantage of our engineers' experience and our technicians' attention to detail to enjoy top-quality installation and cabling. We can complete much of your project at our pre-rack facility, reducing onsite installation time and trimming weeks from a typical schedule.

Roll out advanced services quickly and painlessly

CCI specializes in installing digital programming, ad insertion, cable modem equipment, video-on-demand systems, HDTV channel additions and other advanced services. Once again, you benefit from our engineering and design capabilities as well as our proven installation expertise.

Keep your headend running like new

Choose our maintenance services to keep your headend running like the day it was brought online. Services include upgrades and additions, troubleshooting, re-racking and re-cabling existing equipment, documenting an existing system, wire labeling and technician training.

Meet FCC requirements with testing and certification

Every installation project includes comprehensive testing. We also offer complete testing of your existing headend, including FCC proof-of-performance testing.

Make one call – to CCI

No matter how complex your headend project, CCI has the engineering and installation expertise to get the job done right. Our high standards make us the first choice for all video operators. Call today to learn more about our headend services: 855-337-9299.